

We Guarantee the Quality and at no Change in Prices

If ours were a small business, conducted on a small scale, our prices too, would have to be increased. But we are selling so many hundreds more garments this season that our increased business takes care of a decrease in profits.

Our idea of giving every man his money's worth in clothes, and cutting down operating expenses to do it, has made this the busiest clothing store in all Stark county.

Our Prices Like Our Quality, Remain the Same

$10 $12.50 $15 $17 to $25

Our new Suits and Overcoats at these prices are greatest values—the best in the city—the best with which we ever started a season. Every garment marked under today's market by $5 to $7.50. A comparison with other stores is the best proof of this.

Long-time contracts give us big advantages, and we're passing on to our patrons every advantage we got. Furthermore, we have big stocks and big variety—not pinched assortments such as this war-time has made so common with small dealers.

We urge undecided buyers to safeguard themselves by buying early.

A word to you "hard-to-fit" men: You were not overlooked when we bought this Fall and Winter's stock. We have your size whether you're stout, slim, tall or short.

Men's Fall Furnishings, Hats and Shoes Remains the Same Price

hospital, Detectives Robert Smith and Harry Murphy, who had engaged in the gun battle, gave themselves up at the Fourteenth precinct police station. As the incident occurred outside the city, Sheriff Hanratty was notified.

Hanratty and several deputies visited the scene and after making an investigation ordered the detectives released. Frederick died a few minutes after reaching the hospital.

According to Hanratty, the detectives said they had noticed two men crouching in a vineyard near the "BB" tower shortly after a freight train pulled up. As they approached the men fled and at the same time Frederick jumped from a car.

ALLEGED VICTIM FIRED FIRST.
Instead of halting when they ordered him to do so, Frederick opened fire, the detectives maintain. They returned the fire and he dropped. At this point Murphy's revolver failed to work and wrenching Frederick's revolver from his hand, emptied it at the two fleeing men.

The detectives say Frederick had a shoe box opener in his left hand. Police of the fourteenth precinct found two boxes of cheese which had been thrown from the freight car near the truck.

At the request of Coroner P. J. Byrne, Dr. P. A. Jacobs performed a postmortem on the victim at the county morgue, yesterday. He was found to have been shot twice. One bullet passed through the chest and came out near the hip, while the other had lodged in a lung.

FIXES STEEL PRICES SOON.

Washington, Sept. 24.—The price to be paid by the government for steel will be fixed probably within a few days. Members of the war industries board, after a conference Saturday with representatives of the steel industry, put the situation before President Wilson.

The president hopes, it is understood, that steel producers will agree voluntarily to supply their product to the public at the same price obtained by the government. If this is not done he is ready, it is said, to force passage by congress of the Pomerene bill giving the government authority to fix steel and iron prices.
