The greatest automobile parade ever held in the city featured the third day of the opening week. From 2 until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the whole town stopped work to witness the procession of the motor cars which was designed to evidence the continued growth of the trade.

With almost 175 cars in line, the parade absorbed the attention of the whole downtown district and was watched by from 50,000 to 100,000 people. The number of people congregated on the downtown streets to see the affair was variously estimated at from 25,000 to 50,000, while the sidewalks were crowded all along the route. Great enthusiasm was shown from the start to the finish.

In spite of the fact that the parade had to be postponed from Monday, the number of cars in it exceeded all expectations. They formed a procession almost six blocks long and were so perfectly handled that there were no accidents and no confusion. Certain rules had been laid down to prevent confusion and they were carried out to the letter.

Great Crowd on Circle.

The circle was crowded with people when the start was made shortly after 2 o'clock. The leadership had been determined by lot and the choice fell to H. O. Smith, president of the Premier Company. The leading cars carried public officials and other notables who gave their encouragement to the occasion.

Probably half of the participating cars were entered by the various dealers and the remainder by owners. Business houses contributed in no small measure to the success of the affair by entering their delivery vehicles. About fifteen trucks and delivery wagons were in the procession. Most of the machines were elaborately decorated and this made the pageant a spectacular one. It also kept up the interest of the spectators.

Yesterday proved to be another profitable day for the dealers, whose garages were crowded from early morning until late at night. It was estimated that there were fully 10,000 visitors at the various salesrooms in the course of the day and a lot of sales were reported. The garages were almost emptied of their cars during the parade hour. The largest representation fell to the Premiers, Fords, Buicks, Nationals and Marmons, the first named having thirty-three machines in the parade.

An obstacle race will be the feature of today's program. It will be held at 10 o'clock.

The Capital Auto Company gave an opening and reception last night. The salesrooms of the company were crowded with friends during the entire evening. No attempt was made to sell machines. Every effort was made to make all visitors enjoy themselves. An orchestra played regtime until every one wanted to dance. This feeling finally became so strong that the floor was cleared and the evening closed with a dance.

Punch was served by Mrs. Eisele, Mrs. Newby, Mrs. Selbert, Miss Ruth Newby and Mrs. Fred Nicols. Souvenirs of Teddy bears and fancy lead pencils were given away. The room was decorated in green and red.

Those who received were Managers C. B. Newby, F. W. Eisele, Harry Selbert and L. Markle.
