ONE-HUNDRED-MILE ENDURANCE RACE OPENS PROGRAM.

GREAT INTEREST IN EVENT

The fifth annual Memorial day races, under the auspices of the Indianapolis Motor Association, were scheduled at the State Fair grounds this afternoon. Much interest has been shown in the different events.

Barney Oldfield, of course, was the star attraction. He did not lack competition, however, as Coey, in his "Thomas Torpedo"; Kaiser, in his "White Streak," and Jap Clemens, in his six-cylinder National, were expected to hustle the champion in his "Green Dragon." The program opened at 2 o'clock, when the seven starters in the Indianapolis endurance Derby of 100 miles were sent away. All arrangements were completed to carry out the big program of eight events without delay.

Many Autolets in the City.
Indianapolis contains a record-breaking number of autos to-day, scores of visitors from other points in the State coming in big machines. Oldfield this morning made the prediction that some records would be shattered if conditions were satisfactory. He drove the first mile any autolet ever went in less than one minute on a circular track at the Indianapolis Fair grounds, and he said he would be greatly pleased if he succeeds in lowering his record to-day.

Too bad that such a retiring, reserved and publicly-shunning youth as Robert Fitzsimons should be forced into all that publicity and then refused permission to fight.

Aurelio Herrera's name has been added to that of Joe Gans, on Battling Nelson's not-at-home list.

Barney Oldfield's purchase of an airship indicates that he is aware of the fact that the earth is not big enough for him.

It sometimes takes more than nine innings to make a game, but yesterday was not one of those occasions.

What with watching the Toledo results on the score-board and keeping track of the home plays, these are strenuous and nerve-straining days in Columbus.

While it is the consensus of opinion that Herrera is most to be blamed, the fact is not overlooked that Manager Nolan knows how to take care of his meal ticket.

If it should only develop that Shaughnessy's first name is Mike or Pat, all doubt as to his ability to make good will be removed.

That Columbus fans should be pulling tooth

HOOSIERS AND SENATORS IN REMARKABLE GAME

ROTHGEB'S BLUNDER LOSES

[Special to The Indianapolis News.]
COLUMBUS, O., May 30.—In the most remarkable game played in any league this season, the Hoosiers lost to the Senators yesterday, 1 to 0. The solitary run, sufficient to win, was registered in the ninth inning after two men had been retired and it appeared as if extra innings would be necessary. The victory of the Senators did not have the hoped-for effect of landing the Senators in first place, as the Toledo leaders won from the Louisville team.

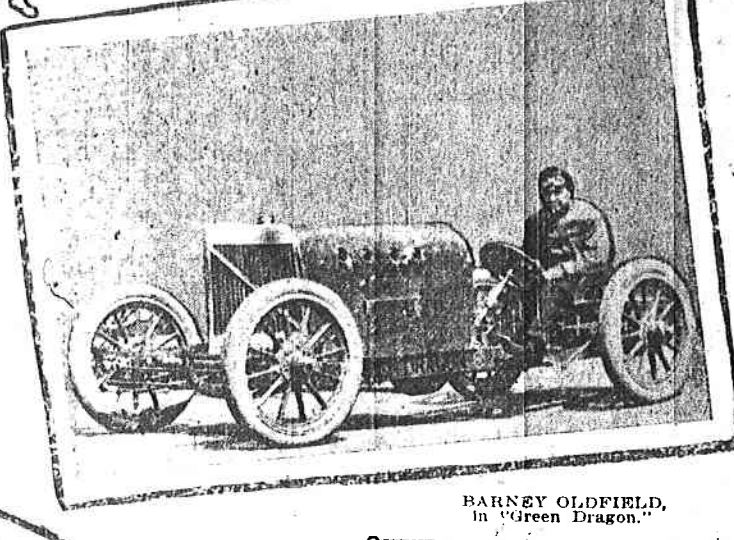

It was a hard game for the Hoosiers to lose, inasmuch as they played just as well as the Senators until the ninth. In that session Rothgeb muffed a fly from the bat of Coulter and that player counted when Friel singled. Had the big right-fielder for the Hoosiers caught Coulter's fly Friel would have had no chance at bat. In the ninth Wrigley flew to Perry and Coulter was safe on Rothgeb's error. Kihm singled and Hinchman was out, J. Carr to C. Carr. Friel followed with the safe clout that broke up the game.

It was the first appearance of pitcher Walker and Groth and both pitched good ball. Walker excelled, however, as he was the steadier. That Groth was enabled to get away with a victory was largely due to the coaching of catcher Ryan. C. Carr led the visitors at the bat, getting two of their five hits. Walker was greatly disappointed at losing the game, as he was extremely anxious to throw down the Columbus team, from which he was released to Indianapolis without a trial. He showed the players and fans of that city that he
