DEPALMA AND RESTA TO MEET IN MATCH SUNDAY.

Their Great Race in Chicago Derby Resulted in Special Flight Being Arranged.

CHICAGO, June 16.—Greek will meet Greek on the Chicago speedway next Sunday afternoon, when Ralph De Palma and Dario Resta, the two greatest drivers of the present day, are to battle out their contents and claims to the title of the "spectacular king" in three heats for a purse of $5,000.

The match race between the two great Italians is the aftermath of the running of the great second international auto derby, which was won by Resta with his Peugeot after one of the greatest races ever staged in this country. For sensationalism and the spectacular nothing has ever approached the local classic of the last week, and during the time that the two men, Resta and De Palma, fought and tried to outwit each other until the dramatic finish when De Palma broke a spark plug when leading by a margin of a car's length and went into the pits for repairs, while his rival thundered across the line a winner, the crowd of 39,000 people were crazed with the great driving.

From the 120th mile to the 298th mile of the 300-mile grind the two cars, De Palma's Mercedes and Resta's Peugeot, were never more than two car lengths apart, with first one and then the other leading by a slight margin. The duel between the two for the $30,000 prize money was easily watched the entire distance owing to the build of the Chicago track, every part of the course being in full view. Finally, with a lead of a length and a half De Palma got into a pocket of five other cars and was blocked against continuing his terrific pace, and Resta, waiting until O'Donnell in the Duesenberg on the outside of the track had moved over, swept by just as De Palma managed to break loose. The two reached the north turn neck and neck, and then Resta went up from the crowd as De Palma's machine slowed up and he turned into the home stretch with his mechanic waving wildly. Resta finished in record time with an average of 95.7 miles per hour, breaking his own mark of 92.2 miles per hour. De Palma got second.

As a result of the breakdown President Reid, of the speedway, at once offered a purse of $5,000 to the two drivers if they would meet in a match race on the same track next Sunday. The two drivers met in his office while collecting their prize money and finally agreed to decide their differences in three heats of ten, twenty-four and fifty miles, and they are to go at it next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Popular prices have been set for the event, with $1 for the grandstand, 50 cents for the bleachers and $2 for a parking space or a box seat. The event undoubtedly will attract a record crowd for such an affair, and, with a bright, sunny day, it is expected half of Chicago and the surrounding territory will be on hand when Starter Thomas J. Hay sends them on their way.

The official corrected standing of the cars at the finish of the second international auto derby was as follows:

NEAR THE DOLLARS DROPPING

TOMMY WILL GET THEM ALL OR ENOUGH OF THEM ANYWAY.

Record Gate Expected at the Jack Dillon-Frank Moran Mingling on June 29.

Tom O'Rourke, the veteran fight promoter who is interested in the promotion of the Moran-Dillon fight at Washington park, Brooklyn, on June 29, is of the opinion that the contest will not only be the greatest fought in the east since the old Horton law days, but will play to the largest crowd and have the biggest gate of any fight held outdoors.

O'Rourke compares the contest to the memorable one fought between Joe Wolcott and Joe Choyinski. At that time Wolcott was known as the "giant-killer," while Choyinski was a contender for the heavy-eight title and Jim Jeffries' closest rival, having just fought a twenty-round draw with Jeffries.

"The Moran-Dillon fight may be another Wolcott-Choyinski battle," said O'Rourke. "In those days," continued the veteran, "I was a promoter. I was a welterweight champion of the world, and the public had dubbed him the 'giant-killer.' Joe Choyinski was Jeff's rival, and I matched Wolcott with him. Now Dillon is the great little man battling against the great big fellows. Dillon has been called the man-killer and rib-crusher. The old-timers will remember the great battle that Wolcott made, finally stopping Choyinski in seven rounds. Moran is a fighter also and the best of the present-day crop. Dillon is a rip-rushing fighter and, like Wolcott, a biter and is aggressive. I believe that Dillon and Moran will put up the greatest of modern fights, a much better one than Willard and Moran's fight without any titles at stake, just a fight for the survival of the fittest—and I look for a knockout; but as to who shall score it I would not like to go on record as saying, for it is an even chance, and, like all fight fans, we all have our choice. The first one you ask will say: 'Moran will stop Dillon.' The next one will wager that Dillon will knock out the Pittsburgher. It is this equally divided opinion that makes the fight interesting."

MATCH CLOSED

Mason and Izzo to Meet Here for Title June 27.

The flyweight title of the world will be the stake for which Frankie Izzo of Chicago, champion of the title, and Frankie Mason, aspirant, will battle for ten rounds on June 27 at the Majestic theater. Izzo was given a shade over Mason the only time the two boys met here, but since he has steadily refused to meet Mason until he was guaranteed the First National bank in return for his work, Tommy Walsh, who is handling Joe Manigault, has Izzo under contract now and will have his flyweight title fight with Mason on June 27. He's a shifty two-handed boxer and packs something of a punch, too. His cleverness in eluding Mason's pistonlike left won him the shade in his former battle with the local boy more than once.
