LIND PREPARED TO LEAVE MEXICO

Wilson's Envoy Not to Stay Unless Huerta Calls.

PARLEY NOW AT DEADLOCK

Neither Government Makes New Proposal-Exodus of Americans From Republic Continues-Wilson and Bryan Away.

Vera Cruz, Aug. 30 .- John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, let it be understood that he would not return to Mexico City except on special invitation of President Huerta. He probably will take passage for the United States on the next liner sailing from this port.

Eleven American refugees sailed from Vera Cruz on the City of Tampico for New Orleans.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 30.—Ten thousand persons, inspired by the sight of a 301mile automobile road race which was devoid of fatalities, cheered themselves hoarse when Ralph De Palma in his Mercer swept across the finish line as club's trophy at the Eigin race course. Joe Dawson, ever a favorite of the automobile race fans, took second place in his Deltal, while Chandler in a Mason was awarded third place after a contest in which was exhibited some of the best racing generalship ever witnessed in the west. There were no accidents to mar the sport, with the possible exception of slight injuries sustained by Harry Endlcott in his Nyberg car, which burst into flames on the back stretch. His Injuries Trivial.

What his age may have been is only conjecture, but, seated on the tallest office stool, supplemented by a discarded copy of Webster's Unabridged, he could, by dint of much

It was election morning and a redhot campaign of municipal reform was on. The two men chuckled together a few moments in self-congratulation. "Well. I must run along," said Grogan. "You'll be out after awhile?"

Sparks, after working awhile, took down his coat and hat. "If anyone calls, Mealy," he said, "I won't be in again, before dinner. You can look after the shop, there won't be anything doing." Left alone, Mealy stolidly continued

At 12, with a snug package under his arm, Mealy left the shop and, after bolting a huge piece of pie and gulping down a mug of coffee at a near-by lunch counter, betook himself down a familiar alley to a secluded corner where the street gamins were wont to spend the noon hour. Calling aside two of his special cronies, there ensued an animated conversation, following which the package was transferred to one of the twain, who promptly departed. Mealy returned ily the while. About three o'clock Sparks came in and graciously dismissed Mealy for the rest of the day, a permission which he accepted with alacrity. Perhaps a couple of hours later the door was pushed violently open and Grogan

"For heaven's sake, Jim," he shouted, "how many of those tickets did you give me?" "A thousand," answered Sparks.

"What's the matter?" "Matter! All Hades to pay," returned Grogan, excitedly. "We have honored twice that many, and they still are pouring in. Our stuff is all gone, and we can't get more, the workmen we gave the tickets to are just coming to the polls. They swear it is a trick, and have passed the word to vote for the other fellows. The ward will go against us sure as shooting!" It did, and the city went with it. If either Sparks or Grogan "smelled a rat" Mealy never heard of it, and he kept his own counsel.
