DENVER, July 28.—The Glidden tourists, who are being entertained here for a few days, visited Mt. McClellan today, after a day of pleasure yesterday with automobile enthusiasts of Denver as the hosts. The final week of the tour, which is scheduled to terminate Friday at Kansas City, will be continued tomorrow, when they will tour to Hugo, Colo., on Wednesday and to Salina, Kas., Thursday. The visiting motorists were shown the sights of Denver yesterday in automobiles furnished by the Denver Motor Club, which took the Gliddenites on a short tour through the business and residence sections of the city. At noon a luncheon was served at the Automobile club house. During the afternoon the visitors were entertained at Lakeside, an amusement resort near Denver, where several feature attractions had been arranged in their honor. The day's program ended with a banquet tendered to the A. A. A. officials and members of the tour.

The Glidden tour has been received with great enthusiasm in the west and the genuine interest shown will undoubtedly result in better roads for this section of the country and help the manufacturers

The Glidden tour has been received with great enthusiasm in the west and the genuine interest shown will undoubtedly result in better roads for this section of the country and help the manufacturers materially in marketing their cars.

Thirteen Perfect Score Cars.

While only thirteen cars remain with perfect scores, the test has been most severe, and great credit is due all the cars, contestants and noncontestants alike for their good showing. The press cars, the Chalmers-Detroit, Studebakers, Maxwells and Thomas, while not under the same strict rules in force for the contesting cars, keep to the schedule, and many times arrive at the night's destination ahead of time.

The Brush runabouts, the smallest cars in the tour, running as noncontestants, have attracted much favorable notice by their excellent showing over roads which have proved a hard trial for the big cars.

The usual amount of tire trouble naturally resulting from the long distances covered has kept the hard-working drivers busy, an exception to the general rule being Jean Bamb, driver of the Chalmers-Detroit No. 52, who announces the exceptional luck of arriving in Denver with the same air in his tires he started with from Detroit.
