Caleb Bragg, millionaire amateur motor pilot of Cincinnati, who put Barney Oldfield and his Benz into the losing class at the Los Angeles Motordrome events this year, yesterday telegraphed his entry to the Speedway for the meeting next week. Bragg will bring his big Fiat on to Indianapolis and start trying out for the meeting in the next few days. Bragg has been more or less the center of racing interest ever since he humbled the mighty Barney, and his daring performances "just for the sport of it" have been talked from coast to coast. He expects to contest in all events here to which he and his car are eligible. Eddie Hearne, in a Benz which Oldfield drove last year, is another big car contender.

With the completion of the entire course at the Speedway yesterday afternoon came the sound of humming motors from a dozen steel speed makers as they raced over the bricked surface working into shape for the race next week. Cars from nearly every Indianapolis factory were in the trial workouts, and their pilots drove them hard to find out what the possibilities of the big course will be. Several filled. More entries are expected from Detroit and Flint.

E. A. Moross of the Speedway left Detroit last night for Cleveland, O., for a conference with the Stearns Company, and others of the Cleveland factories to obtain entries from the Lake City. Great interest is being taken in Detroit in the Motor Speedway events, and several tours here have organized to leave that city to make the trip to Indianapolis for the race meeting.

The Buick Company of Flint has entered the largest team of racing cars ever entered by any factory in the world, according to reports of E. A. Moross by wire. Moross has entered a total of twenty-one entries on his northern trip. The Buick entered ten cars, two Model 100, four Model 16 B, two Models A, two Model 10. Warren, team director for the Buick Company, states that Indianapolis cars will not have the cinch they had at Atlanta.

With the completion of the entire course at the Speedway yesterday afternoon came the sound of humming motors from a dozen steel speed makers as they raced over the bricked surface working into shape for the race next week. Cars from nearly every Indianapolis factory were in the trial workouts, and their pilots drove them hard to find out what the possibilities of the big course will be. Several fast time marks were caught as the cars shot under the wire after the two-and-a-half-mile circuit. Most of the cars working are new, and the motors are still a little stiff, so that full speed was hard to attain.

Marion Team Working.

Gill Anderson and Harry Stutz, in a Marion, clipped off some fast miles and gave their new motors a chance to loosen. Seventy-mile speed was caught several times as the Marions sped over the brick.

Johnny Aitken and Tom Kincaid, in Nationals, put their new machines through space at eighty miles on the try-out, making the two-and-a-half stretch in about two minutes. W. D. Tousey and Harry Harvey of Syracuse, N. Y., worked out a new National "40" for the first time yesterday afternoon. Tousey is an amateur and Harvey a professional. They both will drive the same car in the Speedway events next week, each in his own class. The new machine responded well to their trials, but the day-old motor was too stiff for them to make better than a sixty-mile pace.

Motsinger, in an Empire "20," made the mile-a-minute speed until he had a small breakdown and was forced to stop his tryouts. The little Empire motor hummed along as prettily as any driver could desire and the game car held the track well.

The pilots are pleased with the big course and predict the upsetting of records in the three-day meeting the last of this month. The track is smooth and in excellent shape and next week surface machines will be put at work on it, cutting down the rough places and putting the inclines into as smooth a condition as the rest of the track. The pilots believe danger has been minimized and some daring work is certain to result from the confidence with which they are inspired.

Bulck Team to Come.

Herb Lytle, in his underslung American, and Bill Endicott and Edmunds, in their Wescot and Cole speedsters, will be on the track in a day or so.

The Bulck cars for the Speedway meeting are in the Indianapolis house. Two model 10 racers for the smaller car events and four big "forties" will be at the command of Chevrolet, Burman and De Witt during the meeting. The Bulck team is expected in Indianapolis Saturday

The Buick pilots have been busy in getting their cars into shape to hold the trophies which they already have won and to claim other speed laurels over the paved course.

Additional entries have been obtained for the Indianapolis Motor Speedway races of May 27, 28, and 30 from Detroit factories. The Hupmobile, Herreschoff and the Warren-Detroit have entered cars in the small car events.

For classes 1-B and 2-B, this assures fast competition, while the entries from Jackson yesterday of six cars from the Cutting and Jackson Companies will round out the large classes, so that all the events on the entry blank will be well
