INDIANAPOLIS COMPANY TO BUILD AEROPLANES

THREE FLYING MACHINES HAVE ALREADY BEEN SOLD.

CURZON TO FLY NEXT WEEK

[By Carbureter.]

An Indianapolis company is being formed for the manufacture of aeroplanes of which Carl G. Fisher is expected to be the head. Three flying machines have already been sold for delivery by January 15 and one of them is now practically completed. It was built on the third floor of the Fisher Automobile Company garage and it has been inspected by many interested persons. Names of the men who will be associated with Fisher in this company have not been announced.

Another company is being formed for the manufacture of aeroplane engines. Members of this company are C. G. Fisher, A. C. Newby, F. H. Wheeler, J. A. Allison, Howard Marmon, William G. Wall and E. A. Moross. Two separate companies have been formed for the reason that it is believed that the demand for engines will greatly exceed that for aeroplanes.

Aeroplane Flight Next Week.

The first aeroplane flight ever made in Indianapolis is set for next week at the motor speedway by aviator J. W. Curzon, who has been at work building an aeroplane in the speedway aerodome for the last several weeks. The flight will be in private and the time for making it will not be announced. Mr. Curzon has promised not to bar newspaper men, however. He expects to make many trial flights during the present winter and be ready for the biggest aviation contests to be held next year in this country and Europe.

Indianapolis Car Wins Prize.

At a dinner given by the exhibitors at the Grand Central palace and Madison square automobile shows at the Hotel Breslin, in New York, yesterday, the annual drawing for the privilege of exhibiting a car in the corridor of the hotel during the shows was made. H. C. Esseltyne, representing the Premier car, of Indianapolis, drew the winning number for both associations. The dinner was attended by automobile makers from all parts of the country. M. L. Downs, secretary of the A. L. A. M., and Alfred Reeves, general manager of the A. M. C. M. A., were among the number who made speeches.

When the doors of the Grand Central palace are thrown open for a private view on the afternoon of December 31, a larger and better array of automobile and accessory exhibits will be disclosed than has ever been gathered under that roof. The total will reach 325, of which eighty-four will be exhibits of automobiles. Of these, seventy-two are American cars and twelve foreign.

Six Indianapolis manufacturers are listed among the automobile exhibitors. They include the American Motocar Company, Empire Motocar Company, National Motor Vehicle Company, Nordyke & Marmen Company, Premier Motor Manufacturing Company and Henderson Sales Company. Indiana automobile exhibitors are: Buckeye Manufacturing Company, Anderson; Interstate Automobile Company, Muncie; W. H. McIntyre Company, Auburn; Simplex Motor Car Company, Mishawaka.
