BOOM INDIANA MAN FOR AD CLUB HONOR

Convention Delegates at Louisville Show Ability to Dabble in Political Game.

P. S. FLOREA A CANDIDATE

Indianapolis Aspirant for Secretaryship Will Have Support of Kentuckians.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 25.—(Special)—From early this morning till this afternoon delegations to the fifth annual convention of the National Association of Advertising Clubs of America arrived here. More are due tomorrow, when the campaigning is expected to wax hot. Club politicians so far have shown little booming energy, although it is generally conceded that James Brown, manager of Harper & Bros.' publications of New York, will be the next president and that Omaha stands the best chance for the next meeting place. The Indianapolis delegation is making a decided hit with the band brought from the Hoosier state. For several hours the red-uniformed musicians played on the lawn of the Country Club this afternoon, where the delegates were entertained by the Courier-Journal. The Adscript Club of Indianapolis is working might and main to land its candidate, P. S. Florea, in the secretary's chair of the national association. Each and every member comprises an individual boosting committee and the "noise" for Florea for secretary reaches to the heavens.

The Indianapolis delegation, 250 strong, arrived yesterday on a special train, being composed not only of members of the Adscript Club, but of representatives of the Commercial Club, Board of Trade,

Lieutenant Governor Opposes Motor Races

FRANK J. HALL.

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 25.—Lieutenant Governor Frank J. Hall is strongly opposed to automobile racing in Indiana and believes the Governor would be justified in calling a special session of the legislature to pass a law prohibiting this sport.

"They talk of bull fights in Mexico," said Mr. Hall, "but did you ever hear of several people being killed in a bull fight? And yet, right here in Indiana, great crowds go out to witness an event in which it may be expected that human life may be sacrificed."

The first course of study in the department of Public Instruction last night from the report of Dr. Aley, the superintendent, the week is over 16,000 copies are distributed. One of the subjects prescribed is the study of hygiene, upon which emphasis has been placed.

The evils of drugs are being taught in every school, and warned to avoid them, including elder. The statistics are explained and the mildest drinks are being urged against them. Children are to be warned that tobacco weakens the brain and stimulates digestion. It is easily formed and difficult to get rid of.

The use of tobacco in schools is being discouraged. The children are being urged to grow and eat vegetables especially and children are being urged to be good boys from good athletes.

Sanitation

Other points in the study of hygiene are being emphasized in the campaign conducted
