FAIR CROWD IN ATTENDANCE

Track is in Excellent Condition and Racing Is Best Seen in City in Years.

A fair sized crowd of lovers of auto races gathered at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon and witnessed some of the best racing that has ever been pulled off in this city. The races were given under the auspices of the Indianapolis Automobile Racing Association and everything in connection with the afternoon's program was a delightful success.

The great event of the day was the 100mile race for stock stripped cars and in this event a new record was established for the distance on a circular track, "Jap" Clemens, driving a National car, covering the distance in 1 hour 53 minutes and 21 4-5 seconds. This mark is almost five minutes better than any previous time made in competition. Ray McNamara, in a Premier, finished second, more than a a Premier, finished second, more than a half hour later.

During the running of this race the only accident of the afternoon occurred. Charles Merz, who was driving a National car, crashed through the fence at the west end of the track, taking ten yards of the fence with him and smashing one of the front whels of his car. Merz had been running neck and neck with Clemens for eighty miles when the troubles first made their appearance. The machine was stopped long enough to make repairs and then his car was sent away again. While rounding into the stretch on his ninety-fifth mile, going at the rate of fifty miles an hour, one of the rear tires of the machine exploded and unable to gain control of the racer it made a bee line for the fence and before the crowd could grasp what had occurred Merz was on his feet and was making his way up the stretch to the judges' stand.

little mishap, however, did not make an impression upon the iron nerves of the youthful driver and he appeared in all the rest of the events of the aftermoon, after repairs to his car were completed.

A distinct feature of the program was the exhibition five miles by Carl Fisher in his Premier racer built especially for the Vanderbilt cup race, but which was not started because of being overweight. Mr. Fisher drove the racer in fearless style and although he was unable to shatter any records he reeled off five miles at the rate of less than one minute one and one-fifth seconds, a rate of about fifty-nine pales an hour. The machine is a model of beauty and Mr. Fisher expects to capture some interesting races with it this miles.

The day was almost ideal for the racing although toward the latter part of the afternoon the sun speaked benind a choud as these done on various and sundry occalions when the managers have started to hold the meet, and during the running of the last races the drivers suffered to some extent from the cold. The track was as smooth as glass and was in shape for tionals raced tire and tire, neither being able to gain any advantage over the other. In the back stretch it looked at times as if but one car was making the race. This same neck-and-neck effect continued until Merz had tire troubles, and then it was all Clemens to the finish. The driving of Clemens and Merz was the best that has been seen in this city in some time, both being decidely of the fearless description.

Clemens and Merz had another neck and neck race in the five-mile open. In this event Merz took the aggressive and had his engine working before Clemens could get his in operation, and in the start the former jumped into a ten-yard lead, which he maintained until the stretch of the fifth mile, where Clemens moved up to his front axle and the two finished not three feet apart. tionals raced tire and tire, neither being easy fashion by the National car driven by Merz, but only after the most trying of circumstances. For the first mile Merz was unable to stop his car immediately at the quarter poles, and invariably had to back to allow his passengers to dismount. The Pope Toledo, driven by Allison, led in this race for several miles, but engine troubles soon caused this contestant to drop back in the ruck.

The closing event of the atternoon's program was the five-mile handleap for cars selected by the judges on their performances to go against the Promier racer driven by Carl Fisher. Fisher was started at soratch, the two Nationals were each given a handleap of 55 seconds and the Premier I minute and 18 seconds. This event was bitterly fought, but one by one Fisher overtook the cars, and in the stretch overcame the lead of Mers and won by a yard in one of the most sensational of inishes.
