S. M. PIMIENTO.

European drivers and mechanics will have their wants, expressed in their native tongue, translated into English for them by Professor S. M. Pimiento, officer de l'Academie, ex-officer de l'Armee Francaise, who has been engaged as the official speedway interpreter. Pimiento is not only a linguistical expert, but a highly educated man as well, holding degrees from the Sorbonne at Paris, the University of Pisa, Italy, and the University of Madrid. While pursuing his studies at the last institution, he also served as attache to the French embassy at that point. His career in the French army, with which he was identified for a number of years as officer, was extremely illustrious, the campaign against the Moors in Algiers earning him many a distinction. A man of his versatile attainments was chosen by the speedway because of the fact that the foreign drivers who will appear here are university graduates and mechanical engineers of the best class. It was deemed essential to provide them with an interpreter of their own rank and standing, in order to make everything as agreeable as possible for them.

Watching the Scoreboard

The Cub-Giant fight of years' standing will be resumed today, with Manager Evers hoping to take up the work where his old teammate, Tinker, left off yesterday.
