Barney Oldfield, the star of all speed kings, is in the city preparing for his race against time at the State Fair grounds Memorial day, when his driving is expected to be the chief feature of a big automobile racing program. At Louisville, last Wednesday, he lowered several records, and he expects to do still better in this city. Besides his engagement in this city he is booked at St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and Minneapolis between now and July 15. Barney's contract with the Peerless Motor Car Company will not expire until after the middle of the summer, and until that time he will drive the Green Dragon. Oldfield will continue track racing until September 1, when he will again go on the stage in the "Vanderbilt Cup."

Barney may make his debut as a road driver this fall, when he is expected to drive one of the big American cars in the Vanderbilt cup race. Several mem-

Barney may make his debut as a road driver this fall, when he is expected to drive one of the big American cars in the Vanderbilt cup race. Several manufacturers wish him to drive their machines, and if Barney can get away from the show business long enough he will compete. Oldfield declares he has more contracts with clubs to race at their meets this summer than ever before, and expects to see many of the track records smashed by either himself or some of the other drivers.

The track king's effort to smash the record for fifty miles in a fully equipped touring car at Lexington, Wednesday, was successful. His time for the distance was 1:13:02. The former mark was 1:16:20.

trict, which comprises Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Indiana, presided. All of the presiding elders of these States formed the council, whose session was followed by the literary congress, which is made up of representatives of the literary element of the various A. M. E. churches in these States. The Rev. G. H. Shaffer, pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, represented the clergy on the program, while Dr. S. A. Furniss represented the literary element of the church by a paper, both on Wednesday. Morris Lewis, Charles Hunter and Martin Coleman were the local presiding elders who attended the council. The Rev. C. S. Sampson, of Allen Chapel, was among those present.
