

BLACK TO RAISE YUKON COMPANY

DAWSON, Nov. 2.—Governor George Black and Dr. Alfred Thompson, the member of parliament for Yukon, this morning waited on Sir Sam Hughes, minister of militia, at Ottawa, and suggested that Yukon be allowed to send a contingent of men to Europe with the Canadian forces. A special telegram was received today by the Dawson News, which says that Hughes was delighted with the proposition. Governor Black volunteers to go himself and organize 250 men in Yukon. He is now absent from Yukon on special leave until March, and is asking Minister of the Interior Roberts for longer leave so that he may qualify to act as captain and return to Yukon in March and raise the company. The governor and his wife left Dawson last month for Ottawa. Mr. Black came North in 1897 as a prospector, and later he practiced law. He was a prominent Conservative leader in all campaigns until he was appointed governor three years ago, since which time he has made a splendid record.

DAWSONITES WANT WAR INCOME TAX

DAWSON, Nov. 2.—The Yukon Patriotic Fund society last night voted to send $10,000 more, which it has in the bank here, for voluntary contributions to the General Canadian fund at Ottawa. It also decided to ask Acting Governor George Williams to ascertain if a uniform income tax can be raised in the Yukon for general war purposes. The idea of this is to cover all side-steps, aliens and others, because some are now evading doing their part in the land where they get their living and protection. Dawson is now subject to an income tax of 18 mills for general municipal purposes, with an exemption of $1,800 annually.

HAPPY CREEK MINERS BUSY

While on a business trip to town yesterday, John Fahy, the Happy creek operator, stated that there would be some activity in his vicinity this winter, as he and one other outfit expect to keep working all winter. Mr. Fahy is sinking another shaft, about 300 feet nearer the creek bed than where he worked last year. His reason for sinking at this point was because in his old workings the bedrock pitched greatly toward the creek. In the old shaft he was in good pay and he thinks that he will strike it again in the new shaft. He has only a few men working now but will put on more as soon as he completes his shaft.

Others working on the creek are Cosgrove & Strauss, who have just finished sinking a new shaft. They reached bedrock yesterday morning, but as Mr. Fahy left before they did any panning, he does not know whether or not they struck pay.

ASQUITH EXPLAINS BRITISH SITUATION

British Premier Makes Notable Speech in House of Commons—States That Attempt to Force the Dardanelles Probably Will Be Abandoned, and That Soldiers Will Be Sent from There to Help Serbia—Sir Edward Carson Bitterly Attacks Government for Conduct of War.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—Prime Minister Asquith appeared in the house of commons this morning and talked for several hours, his speech outlining the present status of Great Britain in the war on all of the battlefronts. He was accorded a hearty reception from the government side and from the galleries, while the opposition benches listened to the speech in respectful silence. Several important points were touched on for the first time in public, and the official pronouncement in regard to them was listened to with the greatest interest. In regard to the attempt to force the Dardanelles, the premier stated that it was quite probable the present campaign would be abandoned, and he admitted that soldiers had already been withdrawn from the Gallipoli peninsula and sent to the aid of the Serbians. He added that the Allies had no intention of deserting the Serbians. He explained that the recent visit of General Joffre to England was for the purpose of perfecting plans for the Balkan campaign. Mr. Asquith asserted that he considered no apologies were necessary, as to the past conduct of the campaign, and said that the entire country was backing the war policy. Great Britain's mighty navy would yet be a determining factor in the war, and he was confident of ultimate success. The financial position of the empire was a very serious one, the money drain being the heaviest experienced in centuries. Another loan might be sought in America shortly. Like other wars, the present one had been fruitful of many surprises in many departments. The premier concluded by saying that he was certain the Russians were now in position to roll the Germans back across their frontier.

Following Mr. Asquith, Sir Edward Carson, who recently resigned as attorney-general, delivered the most bitter attack on the conduct of the war by the government. He said that however useful the present cabinet might be if the country were at peace, as an organization it was utterly incapable of conducting the war under the present conditions. He pronounced the initiation of the Dardanelles campaign to have been a stupendous blunder, and asserted that there was absolutely no justification for it at any time.

SUFFRAGE CAUSE NOT HELPED MUCH

In Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania the Suffragists Were Defeated by Large Vote—Prohibition Fails to Score in Ohio—Race for Governorship of Massachusetts Is a Close One.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—The returns from the precincts already counted show that McCall, Republican, and Walsh, Democrat, are running neck and neck for the governorship, with the indications that McCall will pull to the front before the final count. Until 1909 the state had always given the Republican candidate for governor pluralities averaging nearly 70,000. In that year, however, the plurality was cut to less than 8,000, and in 1911 the Democratic candidate won by 8,000. In 1913 Governor Walsh was returned with a plurality of 66,562. The vote on the suffrage question appears to be about two to one against the women. The leaders of the cause claim they have lost by about 100,000. It looks as if all of the leading state offices had fallen to the Republicans.

As practically all Europe is at war, the majority of those applying for citizenship are subjects of these countries. OPERATORS WANT MORE LABORERS

That Howell & Cleveland, the Hot Springs operators, contemplate operating on an extensive scale during the winter is indicated by two telegrams received from them yesterday. One was addressed to Andy McKensie, of the California, and the other was to A. J. Nordale. Both asked the recipients to secure ten laborers and send them to the lower river camp as soon as possible.

As Andy maintains a sort of free employment agency, he had no difficulty in securing the men, and some of them left last evening. The others will leave this morning.

A recent arrival from the Hot Springs district says that Howell & Cleveland will employ about 250 men next summer when they start their summer operations. They are now putting in a big supply of wood, and probably will operate on a larger scale than any other outfit in Interior Alaska.
