Cleveland Wins Game From The National Club

Washington made nine hits, including two triples and two doubles off Coveleskie but would have been shut out had it not been for Chapman's long throw to first with two out in the ninth inning. Automatic Is Improvement. According to the head of Austria's telegraphs, the automatic telephone can be made to compete seriously with the manual system. He says that in New York it takes on the average 16 seconds from the time the subscriber removes his telephone receiver to the time the ringing signal is set, whereas in the automatic system installed in Vienna for 100,000 subscribers this work is done in but 10 seconds. Three seconds after the subscriber hangs up the receiver the line is clear. Owing to this saving in time a larger number of messages can be delivered through the automatic exchange than through the manual exchange.—Exchange.

HEINIE ZIMMERMAN. Heinie Zimmerman, the Cubs third sacker is no longer the fighting Dutchman of past seasons. He now is docile enough to warrant him a place on the Ford peace committee or to allow him a seat next to Williams Jennings Bryan as a peace at any price adherent.

Some Game. Firemen and policemen of the city will meet the second time this season at Murphy street park, this afternoon. Church Games. The South Side Christians defeated the Grace M. E. team yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 4. The score was tied up until the sixth inning when the South Siders managed to score the winning tally. In the game played at the Solaj grounds, the Baptists defeated the German Reformed 5 to 0. SHORT SPORT. The Pirates busted the Giant's winning streak but it took 10 innings to put over the winning run. Davenport seems to be the Yankee's hoodoo. They lost the sixth straight game to the Browns but they made the Ionessies go 14 innings. It was the twelfth straight victory for the Browns. They ate after the Giant's record of 17. The White Sox got a little nearer to the lead when they twice walloped the Athletics. The Red Sox made it three straight over the Tige. Boehling was pounded hard in the second and the Indians made a run away of it. One run in eleven innings was all the Braves could get but it was enough to beat the Cardinals. The Dogers kept up their good work by annexing another victory over the Reds. Especially the feet should be well protected and under no circumstances should the child be allowed to remain with wet or cold feet. Then watch for the first symptoms, hoarseness, and give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy at once and the attack may be warded off. This remedy is a favorite with the mothers of croupy children and can always be depended upon. It is pleasant and safe to take. Obtainable everywhere.

Yanks and Cards In Walters are Hornsby, Lucky

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The two baseball finds uncovered this season are Roger Hornsby, the Cardinal infielder, and Al Walters, the Yankee catcher. Oddly enough, both are graduates from small Texas town clubs, and, at the outset of the season, neither was given much consideration. Walters is the best all-around catcher that has come up to the majors since Ray Schalk's time. He is chattering all the time, steadies his pitcher and puts new life into the whole team. No game is lost, in Walters' opinion, until the last man is out. He's a cheerful, optimistic youngster—the kind that never admits defeat until the final count has been made.

Hornsby's Playing Electrifies. Hornsby has electrified the National league spectators by his brilliant work. Only three months ago he was a minor league performer, yet he has executed some plays afield, at the bat and on the bases that have left an indelible mark on the memories of fandom—and upon the base ball records. Hornsby has a marvelous wing and he makes stops and throws that are seemingly impossible. The kid goes after everything that comes his way. He isn't afraid to risk making errors—but he doesn't make many. Afield he is as fast as forked lightning and he has killed so many "fare" hits by the opposition batters that they have called him "Crook". Hornsby is a natural hitter. All season long this youth, facing pitching four grades higher than ever was heaved at him before, has belted the pellet for an average well beyond 300. Earlier in the year when he took unto himself a mark around 320 and 325, it was regarded as "flash-in-the-pan" stuff. But Hornsby is using the mace with just as deadly effect right now and it begins to look as if he will remain in the battle for the championship. The regrettable feature concerning Hornsby's work is that he is doing it with the lowly cards—with a club that gets little or not attention outside its own home town. But Hornsby's deeds have been so remarkable that even though clouded by being performed on a talent club he has taken rank as the greatest infielder that has come into the majors in many, many years.

Walters Can Hit Too. What has happened to Cobb has befallen the majority of other baserunners who have tried to puffer at Walters' expense. Few catchers in the league are in Walters' class as batters. During the first three months of the campaign he whanged the horse-hide for an average above .300. Since then he has sluffed out somewhat, yet he ranks today as one of the most timely hitters in the game. Walters, as a batter, is never so good as in a pinch.

Walters came from Waco, Texas, while Hornsby was secured from Denison, Texas, a class D town. A Hit About Walters. Walters, first of all, is a wonderful backstop. He pulls leaves out of the air or extracts them from the landscape with as much ease as he snares the straight-overs. Secondly, he has a whip equalled by few men in the game. He is a snay thrower and pegs with a deadly accuracy. He gets away with the ball with almost the same motion that he grabs it—the trick that marks the difference between ordinary catchers and wonderful catchers.

Ty Cobb had heard much of Walters' pegging power. He decided to test out the wing during the recent Yankee-Tiger series. Ty took unto himself a 12-foot lead and then shot for second with the swing of the pitcher's arm. The whirlwind Georgian was touched out standing up—tagged even before he had a chance to slide. The next time Ty essayed a steal he didn't have such a long lead. And then the cocky young Walters showed in what contempt he held Cobb by playing a bit with the ball before he made the throw to second. And once again the play read: "Cobb out stealing, Walters to Geddon".

Rivers Cured. CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Manager Bob Laga has received a telegram from Joe Rivers that the pugilist has left Los Angeles and is on his way to Chicago cured of the injury to his knee, received in his bout against Ritchie Mitchell in Cincinnati last January. Rivers expects to plan his championship upon his arrival here and this probably will include proposals to Mitchell Dundee and Leonard or the Leitch-white winner. Laga has declined an offer of a 15 round bout with Frankie Burns at Colorado Springs August 9. His reason was that he thought it would take Rivers longer than that to get back into condition.
