The police are looking for him. Mrs. Chapman told Bicycleman Englebright and Brady that Chapman put the marriage license in the stove and told her "goodby forever."

An elaborately gowned woman with several companions was almost disrobed before she got through the gates. When the woman finally landed on the "inside" she was clinging to the handle of her parasol like a drowning man to a cars were enabled to go to the yard in which their cars were parked and go to bed early in the evening. Many took advantage of that opportunity and this in a measure cut down the number that went direct to the station to board trains.
