ALMANAC OF THE DAY.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 13.—While traveling along a country road, Lewis F. J. prominent farmer of this county, was struck by lightning about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and instantly killed.

Both were standing up in the wagon, Ed driving and Lewis standing behind him with his hands on his shoulders.

The driver was prostrated by the bolt, but soon recovered sufficiently to hitch the team and make his way to neighboring farmhouses.

It was found that the bolt apparently entered his head, and traveling the length of his body had passed out through his feet, leaving a hole about the size of a man's fist.

It was probably near midnight when the bolt struck, and the driver was about 2 years old and leaves a wife and one child.

Continued Downpour Causes Damage and Impedes Traffic.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 13.—The continued downpour during the last three days is having a damaging effect in many directions.

Wabash River has risen three feet seven inches during the last twenty-four hours, and telegraph communication is being interrupted and much trouble is being experienced by the traction companies.

On the Rock river in the river valley, giving much concern to the villagers of this county, the water has risen to a point which this winter has not known.

Lightning struck this morning at Collettsville, Tenn., and caused a fire which destroyed the school building and the school house.
