MOTOCYCLE MAKERS FORM ORGANIZATION

They Will Exhibit in Body at Madison Square Garden and Other Large Shows.

"Bachelor automobiles," as a sweet girl creature has dubbed motorcycles, have been advancing in popularity and multiplying numerically on the roads during the last two years and the importance to which this phase of motoring has arrived is indicated by the news that the makers of the two-wheelers have organized. There are nearly a score of manufacturers of these lesser motor cars and they have gotten together in a cooperative body under the name of the Motocycle Manufacturers' Association. The president is yet to be elected, and George Hendee of Springfield, Mass., the long-ago champion on the old high wheel, is the likely nominee.

The new association appointed a show committee at its organization meeting and that body visited New York a few days ago to arrange for the motorcycle manufacturers to exhibit in a body at the selected shows of the several big cities. The association will exhibit in New York, Chicago and Boston.
In New York their exhibits will be at the Madison Square Garden show.

Because of the growth of this branch of motoring and the concerted action by the motorcycle manufacturers the annual licensed show in Madison Square Garden next January will have by far the most extensive and interesting display of the one-man carriers ever made.
