South Bend's Oldest "Cop"

SWAN J. STROM.

(Special to The Indianapolis News.)

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 31.—Swan J. Strom, South Bend's oldest policeman, who also has a remarkable record for daring, has just begun his twenty-fifth year of service. In another year he will be retired on a pension.

Although he has never risen above the rank of patrolman, Strom was many clever captures to his credit, and is the city's best-known policeman, as well as the oldest. He was appointed in 1881, when South Bend was little more than a village. Colonel Joseph Turnock was chief of police at that time, and there were only three other officers in addition to Strom. Strom has seen the department reorganized three times and has worked under eight chiefs. Seven mayors have come and gone during his long term in office. On one occasion, many years ago, he was removed from office, because of his political faith, but he was quickly reappointed on the demand of citizens.

Strom was once bitten by Roy Emanuel, negro desperado, and nearly died from the effects of blood poison, which developed. Single-handed he captured Louis Jaquith, murderer of policeman Samuel Cooper, who is now seeking pardon from the northern penitentiary at Michigan City. Strom is sixty years old, and has lived in one house here for thirty-two years. Recently he celebrated his silver wedding anniversary.

veterans who were on duty at the approach to the train gates at the speedway. Compliments were showered on the big sergeant. Men whose wives were carried out of the pressing throng in the sergeant's strong arms thanked him personally. Hagerman repeatedly lifted gasping women from among struggling crowds—women who in an instant more would have been on the ground, unconscious.

Among others who did good work, each being in charge of a detail, were Sergeants Hagerman, Ray, Rowe, Streit, McCarty and White.

The city was paid by the railroad company for the services of the men at the train loading station at the speedway, which is outside the city limits. No city police were on duty inside the speedway grounds.

SAW THE RACE ANYWAY.

Joe Horan Left Hospital in Ambulance for Speedway.

One of the most interested spectators at the speedway race, and one who, no doubt, watched the narrow escapes with emotion, was Joe Horan, the Chicago driver, who wrecked his Amplex car on the back stretch of the speedway by hugging the pole too closely Wednesday of last week.

Horan is popular among the racing men and while at the Methodist hospital he was visited by many of the drivers, and he also received many flowers. Joe wanted to see the race in spite of the fact that he had a broken leg and was in bed. He insisted, in fact, and he got his wish. Arrangements were made so that Horan could be dressed, and Raggsdale's ambulance was used in taking him to the speedway.

The roof of the little one-story hospital in the southwest part of the speedway to a shady spot near the track is like a miniature roof garden. Joe was carried up on the roof and placed in an easy chair, where he witnessed all the events of the day. Beneath him several of the injured were cared for.

Has Won Many Trophies

Ray Harroun, winner of the five hundred-mile race at the speedway, is a young married man, and he lives in Indianapolis, where the Marmon car is manufactured. He was born in Spartansburg, Pa., twenty-nine years ago. He has driven in practically all the great races in the country during the last three or four years. About one year ago Harroun announced he had retired from the racing game and that he would devote his time to the manufacture of aeroplanes. The call of the racing car came when the great prizes were offered at the speedway.

He has won, among other trophies, the two-hundred-mile Wheeler & Schebler trophy, the Atlanta speedway trophy, Los Angeles motordrome one-hundred-mile stock chassis trophy, the Remy brassard, Atlanta Automobile Association trophy and the two hours free-for-all trophy of the Los Angeles motordrome.

TO INDORSE MARSHALL.

representative Cox against the parcels post bill. They contend that if congress acted favorably on the proposed legislation the small retail merchants would be ruined. Representatives Rauch and Dixon returned to Washington today from their homes in Indiana.

Representative Morrison, of Frankfort, delivered a patriotic address at the vacation lodge, Cherydale, Va., yesterday afternoon.

H. McKinzy has been appointed rural carrier on Route 2 at Kewanna.

Your Nerves Need Strength

Nerves Are Tissue Same As Muscle. Give Them Food

If every cell in your blood isn't in a healthy state then what chance has the various organs of the body to properly perform their functions?

Can't You Sleep?

When you are strong and healthy your blood throws off disease and supplies wasted tissue with new life—but when you are weak and run down—nerves gone—then you are a fit subject for any disease that comes along.
