ADVANCE GUARD ARRIVES FOR MOTORCYCLE RACES

STANLEY T. KELLOGG HERE WITH FLYING MERKLES.

LOCAL OFFICIALS ON TOUR

[By Carburetor.]

Heralded as the world's greatest amateur champion, Stanley T. Kellogg headed the racing team of Flying Merkles, of the Merkle Light Company, of Pottstown, Pa., into Indianapolis this morning, his team being the advance guard of the motorcycle army that will invade the city for the speed events at the motor speedway, August 13 and 14.

Kellogg will attempt to break the world's record on a motorcycle while here. He is accompanied on the trip by Joe Merkle, designer and builder of the machine he rides, and Edwin Buffum, sales manager of the firm he represents. Turner and Balke complete the racing quartet. Buffum, Turner and Balke will leave tomorrow to go over the route of the endurance run from Cleveland to Indianapolis, while Kellogg and Merkle will remain here to tune up their machines. Kellogg will make an official trial on the new track at the speedway tomorrow morning.

Indian Team Second to Arrive,

Word was received this morning that the famous Indian team, of Springfield, Mass., was on the way to Indianapolis and was expected to arrive this afternoon. The team is composed of fourteen riders.

The local officials of the P. A. M. endurance run left this morning to go over the route to Cleveland. G. W. Stephens and G. H. Hamilton rode in the pathfinding car, an overland. They will complete the details of the tour, which is to leave Cleveland next Monday. The Harley-Davidson team of four riders followed the automobile and will go over the same route. Walter Davidson headed the party of motorcyclists. Indications are that more than 200 riders will take part in the endurance run.

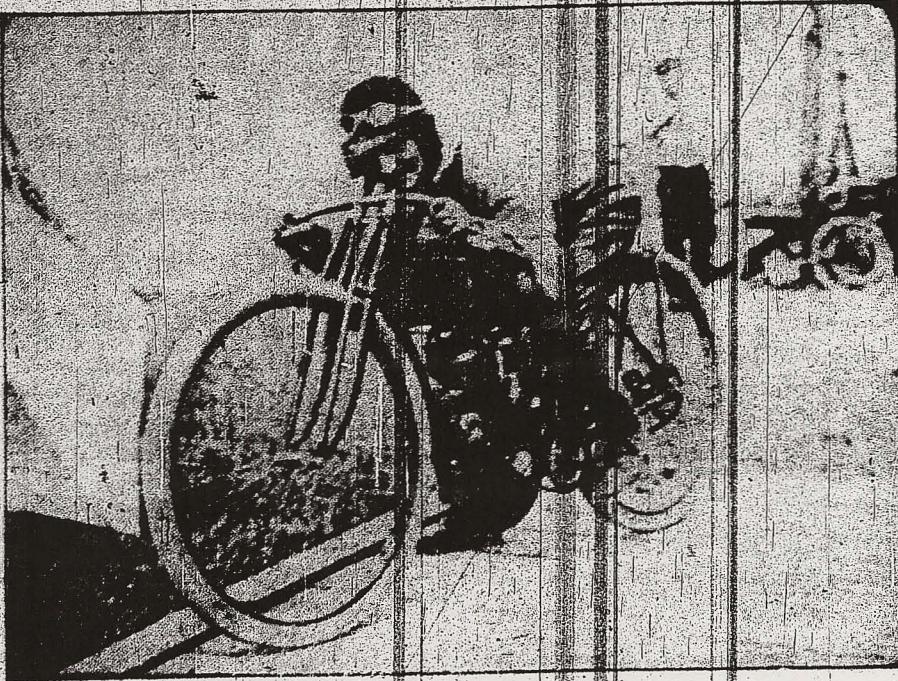

Harry Graff, of Indianapolis, will enter both the endurance run and the events at the speedway with his new Reading Standard machine. This, he says, has never been given a full test. Six riders are coming from the New Era Gas Company, of Dayton, O., for the endurance run, while the Pierce company, of Buffalo, will be represented by a like number.

BOXING PERMIT ISSUED.

Motorcyclists May Hold Bouts Within the Law.

The board of public safety yesterday afternoon sanctioned boxing and wrestling matches, an athletic exhibition and a vaudeville entertainment, all subject to regulation by the police, when it told representatives of the Federation of American Motorcyclists to go ahead with a program arranged for Friday evening, August 13.

SPORT-THOUGHTS OF THE DAY

Despite all the precautions taken to leave the hoodoo behind, it slipped under a seal unseen and was at the Milwaukee park to welcome the Indians.

Tod Sloan broke into print yesterday, and it was only natural that Kid McCoy should follow today.

If Johnson were as eager to fight Jeffries as he is to obtain publicity by getting arrested, he would either be matched with Jeff or a burly or would force that gent to shoot his hand.

That umpire's wife who protected him from an increased mob probably did not see his demeanor.

If the Denver council should land the Jeffries-Johnson match it should take care to have it on some other than meeting night, thereby averting a conflict between two events of importance.

Rioting by Pennsylvania Sunday school players shows that the same instincts are strong in all persons who play the national game.

Detroit's share for two days of playing in Boston was $12,000, which at least probably decreased the grief of the business manager over the loss of three of four games.

In these days of speed fanaticism it might not be amiss to note the performance of the old-fashioned homing pigeon, which flew from Denver to East Liverpool in ten days.

Another English mitten champion has come over to America, and it do seems as if England has nothing but champions.

Having been well acquainted with Bill Squires when he was on earth, it is wondered if Australia and Lemon Orchard are

Noteworthy Features of Yesterday's Games

The Milwaukee infielders had only five assists back of Dougherty, which goes to prove that Sugar Boy had the Indians hitting up in the air.

Smith had two putouts in succession in center field, his first since joining the Indians. He played three games at Indianapolis without having a chance.

McIntyre reached one of his good games and Pittsburgh had no chance. He allowed the Pirates four hits and shut them out. Miller, Hahn, Wagner's pupil, who plays second base, made half of the four hits.

Old Vic Willis also was strong, but the Superbas faltered one run with a part of their five hits.

Byrne and Delahanty got three hits each off Corridon, being the only Cardinals able to do much with the Philadelphia hurler.

Reubach made it an even dozen consecutive victories when he downed the Beans. They hit him rather hard, but good fielding held him up. Besides, the Cubs swatted Turkey and Ferguson with such vigor that Ed could hardly have lost anyhow.

Johnny Fisher, acting as a substitute batsman, made a three-bagger for Wheeling and won the game from Evansville.

The Tigers got eighteen hits off Schlitter, Weiler and Dease in the first game of a double-header. These, with the seventeenth in the dead half of the double-header on Tuesday, made a total of thirty-five hits for two consecutive games.

Owensburg got three runs, a single, two doubles and one two-base in the first game. Crawford, O'Brien, O'Leary and Stange also got three hits.

Wild Bill Donovan lost a three-hit game to the Red Sox.

Washington came back and trounced the Naps twice. Johnson outpitched Joss in the first game, giving only four scattered hits and no runs.
