

AUTO RACES TODAY. GOOD ENTRY LIST

Program Will Be Commenced With 100-Mile Event, Which Will Start at 2 O'Clock.

TRACK IN GOOD CONDITION

Big Drivers Believe Many New Records Will Be Made.

The fifth annual Decoration day races of the Indianapolis Motor Association will be given this afternoon at the Fair Grounds. The opening event, which will be the century run, will be called at 2 o'clock. The record for the century run is held by Jap Clemens of this city, and was made on the Indianapolis Fair Grounds track on the last fall. Mr. Clemens is one of the entrants for this event this afternoon, and will make a strenuous effort to keep the nose of the National car in front of the celebrated competitors from all over the country.

The meet today promises to be the greatest thing of its nature ever given in the West and will eclipse in its scope anything ever attempted for this city. It will see at least five of the greatest drivers of America in action. If the weather is anything like pleasant it is believed that the greatest crowd that ever assembled at the Fair Grounds will be in attendance. The track last night was lightning fast and the officials confidently believe that a number of the world's records will go by the boards this afternoon.

Barney Oldfield said last night: "If the weather is good Wednesday afternoon there is no reason why some of the fastest miles ever reeled off on a circular track should not be made. I made my first mile below the minute mark on the Indianapolis track and I am going to throw the throttle of the Green Dragon wide open to see if I can not make another record in the Hoosier metropolis. Under favorable conditions I expect to see some of the grandest automobile racing ever held in this country."

Epoch in Auto Racing.

The running of the 100-mile race will mark an epoch in track racing history as it will mark the first meeting of the amateur and professional in a race at this distance, and, aside from the 100-mile race in this city last fall, will be the second attempt to pull off a race of this length in the world. The great rivalry in this race will be between Barney Oldfield and Young William Mulf, the Kentucky champion. Mulr and Oldfield met last week in a fifty-mile race at Lexington, and the Colonel was vanquished by a matter of a few feet.

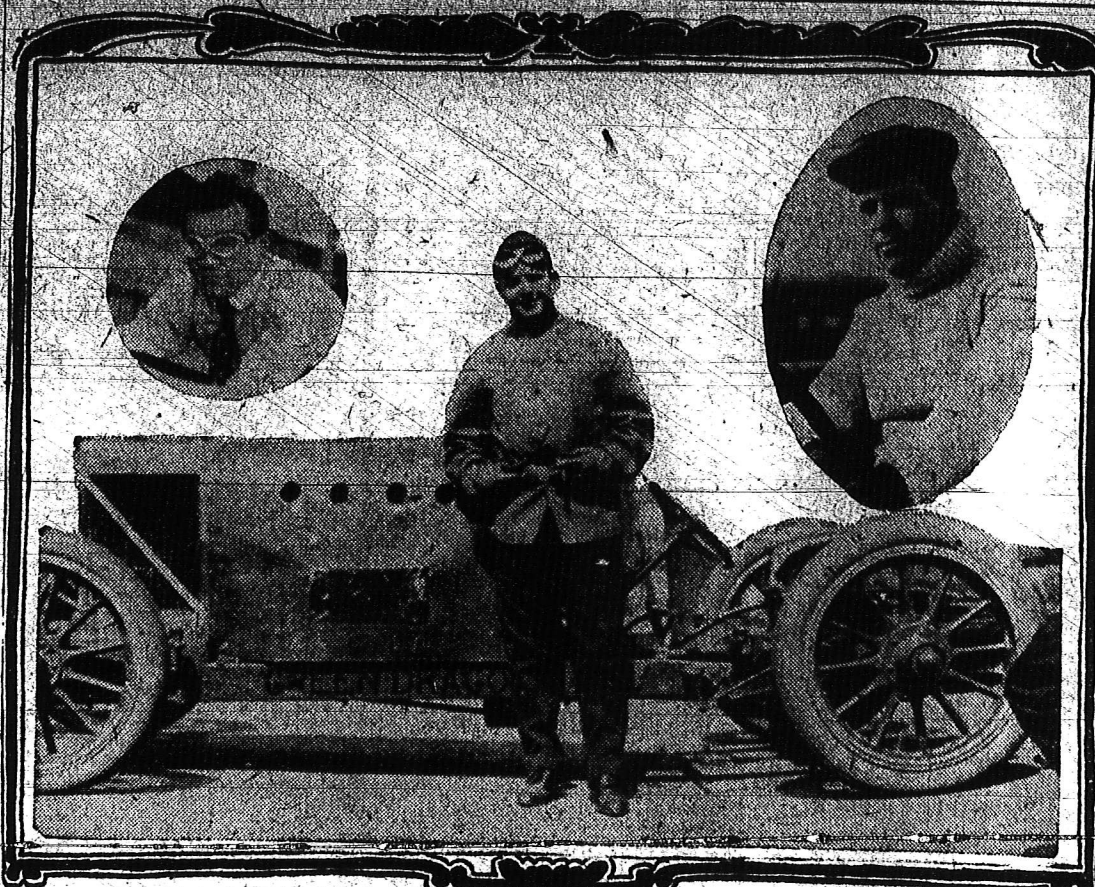

The 100-mile race, while not the feature of the afternoon's card, will be one of the most important, due to the fact that Oldfield expects to capture the record for the distance. He now holds every record from one to fifty miles on a circular track and is after the century mark strong. In order to keep the spectators posted as to the course of events at the end of each five miles announcements will be made of the three drivers in the lead, the time given and whether or not it is inside the record.

The feature event of the afternoon will be the Hoosier Sweepstake race of five miles. This will be for a purse of $1,000 and an additional $500 will be added if the record for the distance or any intervening records are broken. In this race Barney Oldfield in his "Green Dragon," and C. A. Coey in his "Thomas Tornado," are to be the most formidable contestants for the prize, although it is pretty generally acknowledged that Ellis and Kaiser will hustle the old timers. Clemens, who will drive a new six-cylinder National car in this race, is looked upon as sort of a dark horse, but "Jap" is not without his large staff of admirers.

Interest in Mile Trials.

Much interest centers in the trials for a new record for the mile. This will undoubtedly see a new track record for the mile in this city, and there is every reason to believe that it may see a new mark for the world, as no effort will be spared by any of the contestants in the attempt. The officials for the meet were selected yesterday, and will be as follows:
Referee—Frank L. Moore.
Judges—E. W. Elston, Clarence Stanley, Cecil Gibson and Commodore Zoller.
Timers—George S. Kerns, B. F. Meixal.

A glance at the fielding averages of the various clubs of the league shows why the Hoosiers have lost a majority of the games of the season. As a team the locals rank next to Kansas City, and the Blooz are at the bottom of the heap.

Individually C. Carr is the only one of the Hoosiers who has made any showing whatever this season. He ranks second to Kihm as a fielding first baseman. Kelley is the sixth best second baseman, Brashear leading the division. Burns ranks fourth as a fielding shortstop and Carr is sixth, Quinlan being the best. James is given seventh place with the third basemen, Gremlinger of Minneapolis leading this department of players. Holmes is accorded fourteenth place among the catchers and Ryan of Columbus is at the top. Coulter leads the outfielders with a perfect percent and Rothgeb is the best of the local garden guardians, ranking fourteenth. The Hoosiers show up a trifle better in the batting than they do in fielding, but still they are not in the first division of hitters, holding down fifth place. The following are the club averages up to last Friday:

BIG DAY FOR GOLFERS

TOURNAMENTS FOR ALL LINKS

Highland and Riverside Enthusiasts Will Contest This Morning
—Country Club Afternoon.

The golfers of the city will take advantage of today's vacation to pursue their favorite pastime and formally open various courses. The Indianapolis links will be the scenes of good contests between the crack followers of the "ancient and honorable" Scottish game in the city. And that the beginners—"the dubs"—who, despite their enthusiasm, are not quite at par with their more experienced brothers of the green may be not discouraged the wise promoters of the contests have arranged handicaps, and so, perhaps, "the first shall be last and the last shall be first."

A blind bogey handicap will be held at the Riverside, course this morning. An eighteen-hole handicap will be held at the Country Club links this afternoon. The Highland Club managers have made more elaborate arrangements and will spend the entire day in the pursuit of the game. A medal-score handicap tournament of eighteen holes this morning will be the first thing upon the program, and driving contests for men, and approaching and putting contests in the afternoon for both the men and lady golfers will conclude the day's pleasure.

At the Highland Club a beautiful silver trophy cup has been put up by Charles and Ferd Mayer, which is to be known as the Mayer cup, and will be contested for. The trophy is to be the permanent property of the Highland Club, and the winner of the annual Decoration day handicap tournament will receive it.

In the first round Corbett dealt a left jab into Johnson's face and the blacksmith came back with a right. From time on the fight consisted almost entirely of a slugging match and at the end of each round the men were always able to walk off their corners. In the second round Corbett

CORBETT FIGHTS SIX ROUNDS.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Young Corbett tonight followed Terry McGovern's example by going into the ring with an aldermanic paunch and fighting a great battle. Corbett met Eddie Johnson, the fighting blacksmith, before the Mobile Athletic Club, and for six rounds the men battled as hard as fighters ever worked, neither being able to gain a decisive advantage. In the first round Corbett stuck a left jab into Johnson's face and the blacksmith came back with a rush. From then on the fight resolved itself into a slugging match and at the end of each round the men were scarcely able to walk to their corners. In the second round Johnson scored a clean knockdown by landing a right swing to the jaw.

This was on his favorite campaigner Broadcloth, in the opening High Wright selling race for three-year-olds and upward at 4 1/4 furlongs. Broadcloth was handsily beaten by Rya, the three-year-old son of Green, owned by Christie Sullivan, and rolling at 12 to 1 in the betting.
