

DET
outbal and w workes McBrie
Wash
Milan
Schaler
Lelivert
Gentry
Gentry
M. Hedd
Vernon
Henry
Walker

Totals
Rally Cite in Wash
Detroit
Rugs
McHind
Left Twaba
Early

PHIL
Clyde
Pala
day made gan forced son stand Cleve
Gentry
Olsen
Jackson

horses of the desert has descended to the Bedouin pilot of the rakish yellow racing craft. Victory after victory has placed the last Harroun's name among the leading racing drivers of the world. Fifteen of the greatest races of last season were won by him. Among his victories are the Wheeler-Schubler Cup Race, the Al-Latta Trophy, the Los Angeles Two-Hour Race, the Kemy Cup and Harvard and many other prominent events.

At the end of last season Harroun announced his retirement from the speed tracks and started his own factory for the manufacture of aeroplanes and aeroplanes engines in Indianapolis, but the lure of the racing car, the magnitude of the purse and, no doubt, the call of the blood of his distinguished ancestors, brought him back to pit his Harroun "Wasp" against the greatest field of racing cars and drivers the world has ever known.

of Harroun-Al-Raschid, Caliph of Bagdad. From the records of the Harroun family one may trace his forefathers back through the twenty-five centuries to the greatest figure in Arabian history. The family tree shows that the Harrouns left their far-off deserts and traveling through Egypt and Ireland settled in the then newly found country of America. Five generations ago, Alexander Harroun, a man whom Hay is directly descended, and his brother John, bravely fought for liberty in the battles of the American revolution. Both were wounded on the battle field, but recovered to enjoy the independence for which they had offered their lives.

The steadfast determination of the heroic Caliph of Bagdad—ruler of Egypt—to whose persistence fell the arduous task of first opening the pyramids, as well as his love for the speed of the fastest

When Ray Harroun drives his throbbing yellow speed machine, the now famous Harroun "Wasp," to the starting line for the great International 500 Mile Sweepstakes Race at the Speedway, May 30, once more the blood of his far-off Arab ancestors will assert itself. And who knows but that through the roar of the hidden horses of the pulsing racing cars, and amid the smoky clouds from their exhausts, may hover the spirit of that medieval monarch of all the speeding horses of the desert—Harroun-Al-Raschid—kazing down on his youngest son and urging him on to victory.

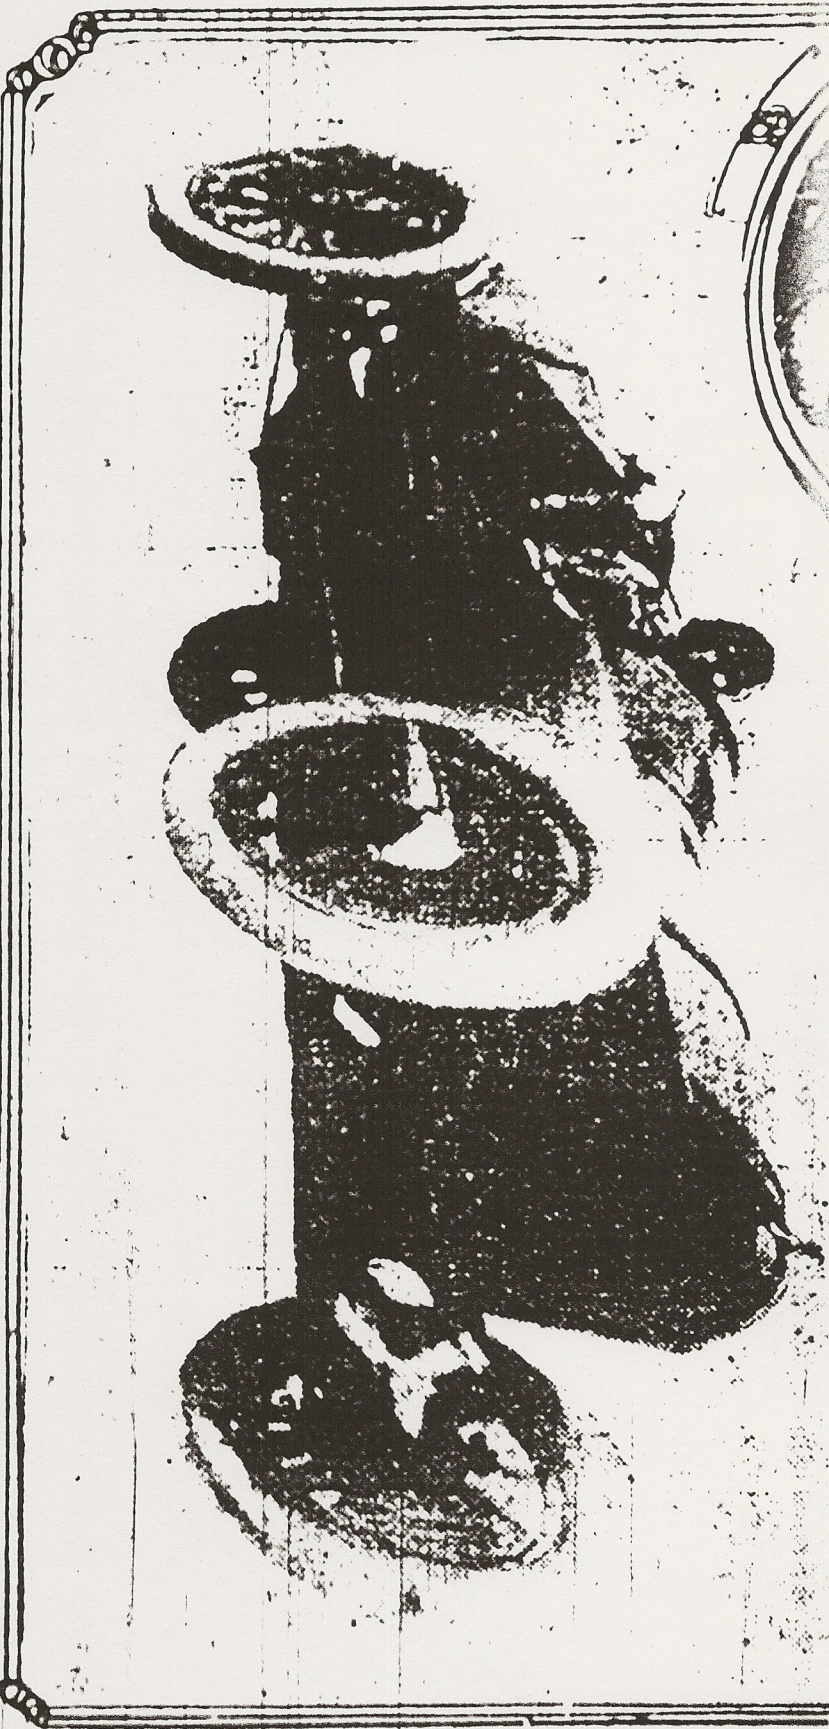

For Ray Harroun, hailed as "The King of the Speedway," is a direct descendant

CUBS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP

Kame and did not pass a man, while Cur-tis won after giving four passes. Score: Brown, 411 0 A B; St. Lou, 411 0 A B; Detroit, 4 0 0 5 6; Higgins, 2 1 0 1 1 0.

LATE RALLY BEATS MILLERS

Miller
Smith
Hudson

DET
outbat
and w worked McBrio
Wash Niliac
Schaf
Leiver
Lancor
Geoff
Milde
Herm
Henric
Walker

Trains
Rait
Cole
Wash
Cote
Leit
Hug
Merrid
Twa
Twa
Twa

When Ray Harroun drove his throbbing yellow Speedster, the new famous Marmon "Wasp" to the starting line for the Great International 100 Mile Speedster Race at the Speedway, May 26, once more the blood of his far-off Arab ancestors will assert itself. And who knows but that through the roar of the hidden forces of the pulsing racing cars, and amid the smoky clouds from their exhausts, may hover the spirit of Hannibal, that medieval monarch of all the speeding horses of the desert. Harroun-Al-Kasbid — raising down on his youngest son and urging him on to victory.

From the records of the Harroun family we may trace his forefathers back through the twelfth-century centuries to the greatest figure in Arabian history.
The family tree shows that the Harrouns left their far-off deserts and travelling through Europe and Ireland settled in the then newly found country of America.
Five generations later, Alexander Harroun, born when Ray is directly descended and his brother John, bravely fought for liberty in the battles of the American revolution. Both were wounded on the battle field but recovered to enjoy the independence for which they had offered their lives.

The steadfast determination of the heroic offspring of Rasdad—rider of Egypt to whose persistence fell the arduous task of first opening the pyramids, as well as his love for the speed of the fastest Bedouin pilot of the desert, has descended to the craft. Victory after victory has placed the last Harroun's name among the leading racing drivers of the world. Fifteen of the greatest races of last season were won by him. Among his victories are the Wheeler-Schubler Cup Race, the Atlantic Trophy Race for Angles Two-Hour Race, the Henry Cup and Ragsdale and many other prominent events.

PHIL
CLIP
made ran forced hurt
stand este Gentry
Jack

CUBS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP

same and did not pass a man, while Curtis won after winning four passes. Score Boston, 10; Athletics, 1; Cleveland, 1; 1 1 0

LATE RALLY BEATS MILLERS

PHIL
CLIP
made ran forced
hurt
stand este Gentry
Jack